Wasted Life

Dear Miss Dix: For twenty years I have been waiting for the wife of the man I am in love with to either die or divorce him. Her husband and I love each other. He has a family, the children all over 18 now. I left a good home and a husband to start this. I could have married years ago and been at least conscience free. My sister says if I really loved this man I would not have tried to break up his home and separate him from his children. Is there any way in which I can undo the harm that I have done?

R. F.
Answer: It hasn't been so much fun as you expected to wreck two homes, to break the heart of a good man and to poison another woman's life with jealousy, has it? Now your conscience is beginning to trouble you. It should. I have thought many a time that the woman who steals another woman's husband from her and who takes away from her all that makes life worth living had hands just as red with blood as any assassin.

What Did It Get You?
When you sum up what you have got out of your unlawful passion, what happiness has it paid you for all the pain you have inflicted on others and suffered yourself? Your lover did not love you well enough to sacrifice his family, his social position, perhaps his financial interests by getting a divorce and marrying you, so you must have known as bitter tortures of jealousy as you ever caused his poor wife to suffer. For twenty years you waited, hoping, even daring to pray for a woman to die, so that you might take her place, and that much have made you loathe yourself. And now you have nothing.

Your youth is gone. Your passion has died down. You have lost the respect of everybody who knows you, and your conscience torments you. What a price to pay for a little stolen love!

You ask what you can do. You can break with the man and cease troubling his family, but for the unhappiness you have caused his family you cannot atone. What we have done, we have done, and it cannot be undone.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is overseas and has been for six months. Before he left he told me he didn't want me sitting at home all the time. He advised me to go out with the fellows on friendly dates. This I have tried to think over seriously before taking any steps toward it. I love my husband very much and I'm sure he loves me. We have been married a year

Four States Feel Impact of Flood

By The Associated Press

The rising upper Mississippi river spilled floodwaters into lowland communities in four midwestern states today.

Flood workers patrolled levees and built and strengthened dikes in preparation for a continue rise. The waters were at a 70 year high in southeastern Minnesota. The south St. Paul stockyards was flooded out of operation for the first time in its history. Several packing plants also closed down.

The rushing current, carrying huge ice cakes, battered down a 480-foot section of a wooden trestle and pontoon bridge 75 miles south of St. Paul, forcing the retreating of a Milwaukee railroad branch line.

The basements of several industrial plants were flooded in Winona, Minn., an industrial city of 25,000. Workmen rushed the building of dikes. The city's municipal airport was under two feet of water following the breaking of a dike.

A national guard unit went on patrol at Prairie Du Chien, Wis., where rising waters covered a fifth of the city's area. Some 250 families left their homes.

Levees were patrolled at Muscatine, Ia., after army engineers warned the city to take immediate precautions. A crest of 20.5 feet is expected by April 28 — 1.4 feet above the previous highest peak reached July 1, 1944.

Levees protecting homes, industries and utilities held during the 1944 flood and since then have been raised and strengthened.

The current flood has a caused backwaters in Mad creek to rise, creating a problem for industries near the stream.

The Mississippi was six feet over flood stage at Quincy, Ill., and another 2.5 foot rise was expected by May 1. No concern was felt for the city's flood walls, however. Water seepage drove 10 families from their homes.

Cold weather covered the upper Mississippi valley, the Great Lakes region and western slopes of the Appalachians, but rising temperatures were forecast.

DAR May Give Pat to Mac Arthur

Washington, April 17 — (AP) — The Daughters of the American Revolution took up a mass of resolutions today, one of which might give a big pat on the back to Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his Pacific policies.

Members of the DAR board of management, who have invited the ousted five-star general to address their convention when he comes to Washington later this week, are reported to have voiced approval of his policies. It was a policy disagreement which led President Truman to fire him last week.

Mr. Truman told the patriotic organization in a letter of greeting made public last night this country has taken the right course in Korea and building up defenses in Europe.

"By meeting the assault with fortitude, by continuing calmly and steadfastly to mobilize the forces of freedom, we have taken, I believe, the one road that can lead to lasting peace," Mr. Truman said.

"I know that we can continue on our course with confidence in the rightness of assuming these responsibilities."

The President's letter to DAR President General Mrs. James B. Patton, was dated March 24.

Attorney General McGrath, in an address to the convention last night, referred to MacArthur's impending arrival in the capital. He said facetiously that Washington is about to be struck by "a storm of hurricane intensity blowing in from the Pacific."

"Let it blow itself out in free and open debate," he added.

More than half the proved reserves of petroleum and natural gas in America are in Texas.

Brehm to Trial for Taking Money

Washington, April 17 — (AP) — government today began its case against veteran Republican Rep. Walter F. Brehm of Ohio, charges that he accepted improper political contributions.

Prosecutorloyd J. Matlack, ranged to lead off before District Judge Burnita G. Tamm, and a jury, with charges of what the government says is a conspiracy to defraud the government.

Brehm went on trial yesterday on a seven-count indictment charging him with illegally receiving a total of $1,300 in contributions from Mrs. Clara S. Craven and Mrs. Emma S. Craven in 1948 while they were in his congressional office. The woman now works for Brehm Matlack, a special assistant to the attorney general, told reporter Mrs. Soliday, a 70-year widow from Logan, Ohio, will be the government's first witness. I believe, the one road that can lead to lasting peace," Mr. Truman said.

A jury of 10 men and women was chosen yesterday for the trial. By agreement government employees were from jury service.

Why not give your Bride a Break?

Let's see what it means to own a ROADMASTER. It means, first of all, that you're a shrewd judge of fine manufacture. Nowhere will you find a mechanism more skillfully fitted part to part with scrupulous precision—engineered to stricter standards of fine-car quality—than the deep-framed and durable ROADMASTER chassis.

It means, also, that you possess keen appreciation of everything that makes for unsurpassed performance.

For there's more to this dazzling beauty than its thrilling take-off. There's the surplus of power that you need to make you the master of busy traffic or open road—plus the velvet magic of Dynaflow Drive (at no extra cost, mind you).

There's the level-going luxury of ample roadweight buoyantly balanced on coil springs on every wheel—and the security of brakes specifically engineered for firm control of this great-powered beauty.

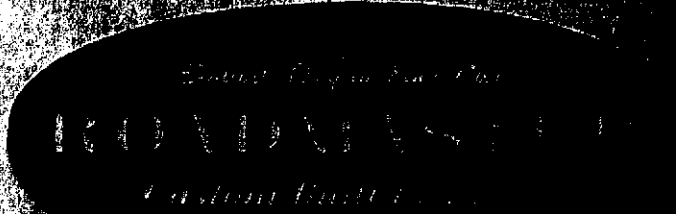

But there's still another distinction to being a ROADMASTER owner.

It marks you as one who buys wisely and well. Size for size, pound for pound, feature for feature, your car can even approach what your dollar will buy in this finest of Buicks.

There's much more to be discovered by a visit to any Buick dealer's showroom.

There's the sumptuous softness of custom-tailored excellence of fabrics and interior trim—grace and charm of every line and contour. So if you've dreamed of sometime owning a superbly fine, there's no time like the present—and no car like ROADMASTER for making dreams come true.

See your Buick dealer for complete details on Roadmaster's many features and options.

Pirates Are Kings for a Day

Associated Press Sports Writer

Kling is a day anyway. That's Branch Rickey's National League place-casting Pittsburgh Pirates.

Getting a jump on the rest of the National League clubs, which were slated to open yesterday, Rickey's sneak preview yesterday routing the Reds, 4-3, before 20,441 disappointed and blank-eyed fans. Near-freezing temperature and snow flurries marred the Reds' inaugural.

That left the Pirates all alone in the victory column as rain washed out the other half of the special ceremonial opening at Washington. The Senators and defending champion New York Yankees were to have ushered in the American league season.

Weather permitting, all 16 clubs should get underway today with an estimated 242,000 customers expected to attend the eight openers. That includes the Senators-Athletics scheduled night game in Philadelphia, first night opener in the American. Freezing and wet weather, however, was predicted in a majority of the cities.

Pittsburgh's triumph was doubly sweet as it came at the expense of Ewell (The White) Blackwell, one of the National League's better hitters. Blackwell was pummeled for seven hits and all of the Pirates' runs before bowing out for a pinch hitter after three innings.

Rickey must have swelled noticeably at the impressive debut, both at bat and in the field, made by George (Catfish) Metkovich. The 20-year-old outfielder, Rickey's personal $40,000 draft pick from Oakland last fall, had quite a day for himself.

The veteran rookie, who previously had flunked in bitches with the Red Sox, Braves and White Sox, was the big gun in the Pirates' 12-hit attack on Blackwell and three relievers. He smote a double and two singles and scored a run.

Metkovich ignited the winning three-run uprising against Blackwell in the third inning with a sharp single to right. He sparked in the field handling five putouts flawlessly. He took an extra base hit, anyway, from Joe Adcock, sprawling into the overflow crowd in centerfield to make a splendid catch of a towering drive in the fourth.

In the tenth inning, the Catfish cut down Grady Hatton at the plate with a line throw after fielding Virg Stallon's single. That eventually turned out to be a game-saving play.

Foul Brings Fight Decision

Boston, April 17 —(AP)—For the first time in more than 20 years, the Massachusetts Boxing commission recorded a decision by foul for a Boston professional boxing bout.

It favored Joe Rindone, 160-142, of Boston, at the expense of Irish Bob Murphy, 172, of San Diego, who was a 3-10 favorite.

The mauling Murphy, however, landed a low left that dropped Rindone in his own corner early in the sixth round. The Californian had won the first three seasons but Rindone had almost closed the gap before becoming disabled.

That left the Pirates all alone in the victory column as rain washed out the other half of the special ceremonial opening at Washington. The Senators and defending champion New York Yankees were to have ushered in the American league season.

Weather permitting, all 16 clubs should get underway today with an estimated 242,000 customers expected to attend the eight openers. That includes the Senators-Athletics scheduled night game in Philadelphia, first night opener in the American. Freezing and wet weather, however, was predicted in a majority of the cities.

Pittsburgh's triumph was doubly sweet as it came at the expense of Ewell (The White) Blackwell, one of the National League's better hitters. Blackwell was pummeled for seven hits and all of the Pirates' runs before bowing out for a pinch hitter after three innings.

Rickey must have swelled noticeably at the impressive debut, both at bat and in the field, made by George (Catfish) Metkovich. The 20-year-old outfielder, Rickey's personal $40,000 draft pick from Oakland last fall, had quite a day for himself.

The veteran rookie, who previously had flunked in bitches with the Red Sox, Braves and White Sox, was the big gun in the Pirates' 12-hit attack on Blackwell and three relievers. He smote a double and two singles and scored a run.

Metkovich ignited the winning three-run uprising against Blackwell in the third inning with a sharp single to right. He sparked in the field handling five putouts flawlessly. He took an extra base hit, anyway, from Joe Adcock, sprawling into the overflow crowd in centerfield to make a splendid catch of a towering drive in the fourth.

In the tenth inning, the Catfish cut down Grady Hatton at the plate with a line throw after fielding Virg Stallon's single. That eventually turned out to be a game-saving play.

PACKAGE FOR JOE STALIN—New York businessman K. O. W. Wahle has a package weighed in at the Frankfurt, Germany, post office for delivery to Joseph Stalin in the Kremlin. The package contains a radio, with which Wahle hopes Uncle Joe will tune in Voice of America. Soviet officials in Western Germany had refused to handle Wahle's gift, so he turned to the mails as a last resort. (NEA-Acme photo by Staff Photographer Guenter Hett.)

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 17 (AP)—Making the rounds of the U. of Michigan athletic office, while everyone curses the snow falling outside.

Baseball Coach Ray Fisher, just back from a southern trip, insists he didn't see any good pitchers or hitters down there although there were some good fielding teams. "That's not an unusual situation," Ray added, "even in professional baseball. There are more good glove men than wood men. The difference is that it's a rare fielding star who can stick around the big time because of that ability when he can't hit. But a real good hitter is kept on indefinitely in spite of bad glove work, even if he can only be used as a pinch-hitter."

Fisher also claims the southern college ball teams aren't better than those in the north in spite of the break they get from the weather—the play-ers he used to get in the Vermont Northern League in summer showed that much.

Hockey Coach Vic Heyligher, who developed the nation's best college team last winter, is all steamed up over the formation of the Mid-west Intercollegiate Hockey League. It will include Michigan, Michigan State, Michigan College of Mines, North Dakota, Minnesota, Colorado College and Denver.

"It should increase interest and should be a great help in picking teams for the NCAA championships," says Vic. Heyligher thinks an all-star college team, even his Michigan squad with the freshman goalie added, would make a better showing in the Olympic games than most U. S. teams of the past. But there's no chance of getting the boys away from school.

Youthful Don Canham, who takes his track men to Los Angeles this weekend for a meet with Southern California and Illinois, offers a pair of predictions. One is that Jim Golliday, the Northwestern sprinter, will be the next Olympic champion (night games).

A surprising amount of abrasive material may be found in aerobics case from which oil has not been drained for at least 1000 miles of car operation. It is far more economical to change oil regularly than to run the risk of scored cylinder walls.

A wounded Korean war veteran from Paragould will preside over Hot Springs home opener of the 1951 Cotton States league season Thursday night.

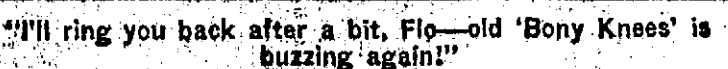

Eighteen-year-old Cpl. Johnny Barker has been designated "Mr. Barker" for the occasion and will toss out the first ball.

Johnny, who has dreamed of playing pro baseball before entering the army, has to use a wheel chair to get around. He suffered leg wounds. Recently he received the Silver Star medal.

Abstract

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

The image is a high-contrast, black and white scan of a document page, likely a ledger or a form. It features a grid-like structure with several rows and columns. The top section contains a header with the text "RECEIVED" and "JAN 10 1964". Below this, there are several rows of text, including "TO THE" and "FROM THE". The bottom section contains a large, bold, blacked-out area, possibly a redaction or a placeholder for a signature. The overall image is very grainy and has a high level of contrast, making it difficult to read the specific details.

Democrats Agree to Policy Probe

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—Democrats today agreed to demand a full-scale investigation by Congress into foreign military policies.

With the parties accusing each other of playing politics in the controversy over President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, there was sharp disagreement over the objectives and scope of such an inquiry.

Sen. Taft of Ohio called for a bipartisan Republican policy committee to whip an investigation resolution into shape. It had favorable support of 23 GOP senators.

Sen. McNamara said it ought to be pointed out that the Truman administration's world policies, and not just a limited inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal, are the subject of the investigation. McNamara, a Democratic leader, said he was sure the investigation would "just as the people get it."

Senators McMahon (D-Conn.), McNamara (D-Ill.) and Gillette (D-Ill.) look another task. They all clear Democratic defense of President's policies. It is likely the form of an attack on Republican advocacy of MacArthur theory that the vital light of communism is in Asia, not Europe.

MacArthur, due in San Francisco today, is expected to be welcomed by a large crowd of thousands. He is expected to be welcomed by a large crowd of thousands. He is expected to be welcomed by a large crowd of thousands.

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—Investigation-minded senators called a strategy meeting today to consider reports that President Truman once made and later disavowed charges that some members of Congress have peddled their influence.

The senate banking committee arranged a meeting to talk over the ticklish question of whether to order a thorough combing of letters from senate and house members to the reconstruction finance corporation (RFC) concerning loans.

Mr. Truman is reported to have said he "deduced" from his own study of the correspondence that "a great many" lawmakers took for help in getting RFC loans, but could not prove it.

a study thorough enough to prove or disprove the President's deductions "should be made." Fulbright is chairman of a banking subcommittee which has been investigating RFC operations.

The subcommittee named White House Aide Donald S. Dawson as a member of a ring which, it charged, improperly influenced RFC loans. Dawson has never answered the charges. Mr. Truman called them untrue.

Fulbright told reporters he had drafted an order for a study of the congress members' letters, but held it up when Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) stepped in Sunday and placed the matter before the full banking committee. Maybank is chairman of the full committee, which has primary authority.

Fulbright said he now will urge the full committee to authorize the inquiry by his group of "other body."

The letters bounced back into the spotlight last week. Senator Tobey (R-N.H.) told the senate he had recorded a telephone call with the President last February in which he quoted Mr. Truman as mentioning the letters and speaking of "good information" that lawmakers had accepted fees.

Tobey said Mr. Truman told him in a later face-to-face talk at the White House that he was reluctant to make public his information. Still later the senator added he recorded a phone call in which he quoted the President as saying he had only deduced from the letters that fees were involved.

The white House said Mr. Truman regarded as "outrageous" Tobey's acknowledged recording of the phone calls.

Problematic Funds

Disposing of surpluses of public funds once was such a problem that, in 1936, the U. S. government began lending the excesses to the states, and in that year $20,000,000 was so distributed, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

There Is No Question That U. S. Has a Long, Dangerous Row to Hoe in Hills of Korea

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Now that General MacArthur's Asiatic command has been transferred to other shoulders, the big question before us is: Where do we go from here?

MacArthur has been too ambitious — with fostering ideas which threatened to precipitate another world war. Well, just what is the assignment which now has been given Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway as the new commander in chief? What remains to be done to fulfill the program of the United Nations?

The U. N. laid down its terms in a resolution last December. This called for the unifying and pacifying of Korea. Secretary General Trygve Lie, as recently as April 6 reaffirmed this aim at a press conference.

This U. N. action was generally interpreted as giving MacArthur moral authority to cross the 38th parallel — boundary between North and South Korea — and proceed to the northern border with Manchuria, which is the Yalu river. Obviously there would be no other way of achieving pacification and unity but to cross that holly disputed 38th parallel.

Secretary Lie refused at his news conference to say whether the U. N. troops should cross the parallel. However, a far back as March 12, General Ridgway then commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, said he knew of no plan for ending the war at the 38th parallel.

Thus Ridgway's assignment seems to be clearly defined. There is of course attached to it the admonition that it is to be carried out so as to avoid any situation which might precipitate another world war.

Simple though it sounds in the stating, that assignment is a difficult one. The troops of Red China already are in Korea fighting the

Russia Ends 5-Year Plan a Little Early

Moscow, April 17.—(AP)—Russia sold the world last night she finished her second five year plan nine months ahead of schedule. She boasted topping her production by 73 per cent, in of the 43 per cent she aimed.

In the major fields, however, her production still fell far short of the United States. The announcement, by Moscow radio, trumpeted great gains in "the most important tasks of plan"—but admitted shortcomings in other fields of production.

As usual, the Soviet announcement gave no figures on production but dealt only in percentages compared 1950 with 1940.

The Russians said: Oil — 22 per cent above production. Earlier estimates for the West attributed to the Soviet 277 million barrels last year compared with an American 1,000,000 barrels.

Coal — 37 per cent more than in 1940 — slightly above plan's quota. The West estimates Russia last year produced 290,000 tons of coal—the U. S. 600,000 tons.

Electric power—up 87 per cent beating the goal set. The West estimates Russia last year produced 90,000,000 kilowatts. The U. S. States turned out 386,000,000.

Perhaps significantly last night's announcement gave no figures on non-ferrous metals—non-ferrous, did it claim Soviet production gets in this important field been met.

This recalled recent hints of trouble in Russia's non-ferrous ministry and reports that she suffering from shortages in such things as nickel, copper and bauxite.
